Cedar Rapids Prairie graduate Brayton Carlson will continue his college baseball career at Texas A&M University-Kingsville.

Carlson, an outfielder, hit .298 with one home run and 13 RBIs as a sophomore at Southeastern Community College in West Burlington this season.

Southeastern compiled a 45-22 record and played in the NJCAA Division II World Series after winning the Region XI tournament. The Blackhawks were fourth in the final rankings.

Texas A&M-Kingsville is an NCAA Division II school.
