WHEATLAND - The struggles continued for the Cedar Valley Christian girls basketball team Tuesday night.

The shorthanded Huskies lost their seventh straight game, 56-18, to Calamus-Wheatland on the road.

Shelby Hembera has been lost for the season with an ankle injury and her younger sister, Molly, did not play Tuesday due to a headache, stripping the Huskies of their two leading scorers.

Emma Slagle and Maggie Cach scored six points apiece for Cedar Valley (7-10). Morgan VanderHeiden scored 11 points for Cal-Wheatland (7-10).
