Megan Hayes, Mickey Hansche and Aleena Hobbs from the Coe women's basketball team have earned first-team honors in the Iowa Conference this season.

Hayes became the 11th player in league history to be selected to four all-conference teams in her career and the second in school history. Hayes was a second-team pick as a freshman, sophomore and junior before making the first team this year.

Hayes is a senior from Bettendorf, Hansche is a sophomore from Iowa City High and Hobbs is a freshman from Cedar Rapids Washington.

Moran Lonning of Luther was named the Most Valuable Player in the league.
